Who Was Ali Baba? A Humble Beginning

Our story begins in a bustling city in ancient Persia. Here lived two brothers, Ali Baba and his elder brother, Kassim. Now, Kassim was a wealthy merchant, always well-dressed and enjoying the finer things in life. He married a rich woman and lived in a grand house. Ali Baba, on the other hand, was a woodcutter. He lived a simple life with his wife and children, often struggling to make ends meet. Despite his modest means, Ali Baba was known for his kind heart and honest nature. He was content with what he had and always willing to help others. He would wake up early each morning, grab his axe, and venture into the nearby forest to chop wood, which he would then sell in the market. It was a hard life, but he faced it with a smile.

A Mysterious Discovery in the Forest

One sweltering afternoon, while Ali Baba was deep in the forest, he heard the thunder of approaching horses. He quickly hid behind a large tree, his heart pounding with a mix of fear and curiosity. A troop of forty horsemen, cloaked and armed, rode into a clearing not far from where he was. Ali Baba watched as their leader, a stern-looking man with a long beard, dismounted and approached a large, imposing rock. He raised his hand and, in a clear, commanding voice, uttered a magical phrase: "Open, Sesame!" To Ali Baba's utter astonishment, the rock slid open, revealing a dark cave entrance! The horsemen entered, and after a while, they emerged and rode away, the rock closing behind them as if by magic. Ali Baba, still hidden, couldn't believe his eyes. What was this secret place? And what was inside?

The Secret Cave: A Treasure Trove!

As soon as the coast was clear, Ali Baba, his curiosity piqued and his pulse racing, cautiously approached the rock. He remembered the leader's words and, taking a deep breath, he also uttered, "Open, Sesame!" With a rumble and a groan, the rock slid open, just as it had for the thieves. Hesitantly, Ali Baba stepped inside. He found himself in a vast cavern, dimly lit by an unseen source. And what a sight met his eyes! Piles and piles of gold coins, glittering jewels, precious silks, and exquisite artifacts were stacked high. It was more wealth than he could have ever imagined in his wildest dreams! This was the secret hideout of a notorious band of forty thieves who had been terrorizing the region, stealing from merchants and travelers. Ali Baba, overwhelmed but filled with a sense of wonder, decided to take just a small portion of the treasure. He filled his sacks with gold coins and some precious jewels, enough to provide for his family and live comfortably. He then whispered, "Close, Sesame!" and the rock sealed itself shut once more.

A Newfound Wealth and a Brother's Greed

Ali Baba returned home, his heart full of his incredible secret. He and his wife were overjoyed at their newfound fortune. They carefully hid the treasure and continued their simple lives, but with a newfound sense of security. However, Ali Baba couldn't keep such an amazing secret from his brother, Kassim, for long. He decided to share his discovery, believing that Kassim, being the elder brother, would be pleased. He led Kassim to the cave and, after revealing the treasure, told him about the magical words. Kassim, upon seeing the immense wealth, was overcome with greed. He immediately forgot all about his already comfortable life and became consumed by the desire to possess even more. He rushed into the cave and, in his haste, forgot the magical phrase to open the rock! He was trapped!

Kassim's Fate and the Thieves' Revenge

Panic set in. Kassim, in his desperation, tried every word he could think of, but the rock remained stubbornly shut. Hours passed, and as darkness fell, the forty thieves returned to their treasure cave. They found Kassim trapped inside, and realizing he had stumbled upon their secret, they were furious. The thieves, a brutal and unforgiving lot, did not hesitate. They killed Kassim and, to make an example of anyone who dared to intrude, they cut his body into pieces and hung them outside the cave entrance. They then sealed the cave once more, determined to find out who had betrayed their secret.

The Cleverness of Marjaneh: Ali Baba's Maid

When Ali Baba realized Kassim had not returned, he grew worried. He went to the cave and found the gruesome scene. Heartbroken and terrified, he carefully collected his brother's remains and brought them home. Now, Ali Baba had a clever and loyal maid named Marjaneh. Marjaneh was more than just a servant; she was a trusted confidante. Seeing Ali Baba's distress, she vowed to help him. She found a skillful tailor in the city who, for a hefty sum and a promise of secrecy, agreed to stitch Kassim's body back together. Marjaneh then ensured Kassim was given a proper burial. Meanwhile, the forty thieves were not idle. They were determined to find the person responsible for their discovery. The leader, suspicious of the city's inhabitants, disguised himself as an oil merchant and rode into the city with mules laden with empty jars. One of these jars, however, contained one of his men, hidden within.

The Oil Merchant's Deception and Marjaneh's Heroism

The disguised thief went door to door, offering oil. He eventually arrived at Ali Baba's house. Ali Baba, still unaware of the danger, welcomed him in. Marjaneh, while preparing a place for the "merchant," noticed that one of the jars sounded hollow. Her sharp instincts kicked in. She realized something was amiss. As the "merchant" settled in for the night, Marjaneh, brave and resourceful, took matters into her own hands. She quietly went to the jars, and one by one, she poured the boiling oil from the hidden jars onto the thieves concealed within. The next morning, the disguised thief awoke to find his men dead. Enraged, he fled the city.

Foiled Plans and a Happy Ending

The thieves, however, were not ready to give up. The leader, now more determined than ever, disguised himself again, this time as a jeweler, and returned to the city. He planned to lure Ali Baba to his shop and exact his revenge. But Marjaneh, who had overheard the thieves discussing their plans before, was vigilant. She warned Ali Baba about the jeweler's true identity. When the "jeweler" invited Ali Baba to his shop, Ali Baba, guided by Marjaneh's warning, pretended to agree but secretly sent a message to the city magistrate. The magistrate, alerted by Marjaneh and knowing of Ali Baba's honesty, apprehended the thief. The leader of the forty thieves was finally brought to justice, and his reign of terror ended.

The Legacy of Ali Baba

With the thieves gone, Ali Baba was safe. He continued to be a just and kind man, using his wealth to help the poor and needy in his community.
