Don't try to play the entire song at full tempo from the get-go. Break it down into smaller sections, starting with the introduction or a verse. Practice each section slowly, focusing on accuracy of notes and rhythm.

Understand the Notation

If you're new to reading sheet music, take some time to familiarize yourself with the basics: clefs (treble and bass), notes, rests, time signatures, and key signatures. There are many online resources and tutorials that can help with this.

Listen Actively

Listen to the original Tegan and Sara recordings repeatedly. Pay attention to the nuances of their vocal delivery, the instrumental layers, and the overall feel of the song. This will inform your interpretation on the piano.

Practice Hands Separately

Many pianists find it helpful to practice the right hand (melody) and left hand (harmony/bass) parts independently before putting them together. This allows you to focus on the challenges of each part without the added complexity of coordinating both.

Use a Metronome

A metronome is your best friend for developing a strong sense of rhythm. Start with a slow tempo and gradually increase it as you become more comfortable with the music.

Focus on Dynamics and Expression

Tegan and Sara's music is full of emotion. Once you have the notes and rhythms down, focus on incorporating dynamics (loud and soft) and articulation (staccato, legato) to bring the music to life. Think about how you can convey the feeling of the lyrics through your playing.

Record Yourself

Recording your practice sessions can be incredibly insightful. You'll be able to identify areas where you need improvement, such as missed notes, rhythmic inconsistencies, or sections that lack expression.

Don't Be Afraid to Experiment
